OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE.

SATURDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 30, 1865.

The Rebels of 1776 and 1865.

The Copperhead newspapers continue to draw parallels between the great revolutionary movement whereby we [illegible] our independence, and the recent attempt on the part of the Southern conspirators to divide our country and establish a government of their own. Those persons express their surprise that we who think the rebellion of 1776 so laudable a thing, should now turn and condemn the defeated Southern leaders for having attempted to institute a movement precisely similar, as is alleged, to the old revolution which we so warmly justify. The Copperhead press has put the case in a great variety of ways. The following from the last number of the Oregon Reporter may be taken as an example of their method of reasoning:

> People will think it rather strange that a man should hang in 1865 for attempting to do precisely what their forefathers are glorified and immortalized for doing in 1776; and what certain much-lauded gentlemen commonly known as the "signers," declared was the right of every people, in a venerable document known as the Declaration of Independence. The remarkable difference between the be-queued and be-powdered rebels of 1776 and the close-cropped rebels of 1865, is a problem which puzzles us exceedingly, provided there is any difference between them.

People might well think it a strange thing for a man "to hang in 1865 for doing precisely what our fathers are glorified for doing in 1776." The point of difference, however, consists in the fact that the two movements were entirely and radically dissimilar in their principles, causes, objects and aims. Our fathers did not undertake to do what the Southern rebels lately attempted. When the revolutionary war began, there was no attempt made to separate the colonies from the mother country. Independence was not declared for much more than a year after the war began. There was no conspiracy to divide the colonies from the crown, commencing years before the inception of the war and subordinating everything to that single idea. When the revolutionary war began, independence was not sought nor wanted either by the leaders or the people at large. A simple redress of grievances was all that was asked. The repeal of oppressive acts was called for, and this was all. How very different is this case from that of those lately in rebellion at the South? The revolutionists of 1776 did not provoke a quarrel with the mother country in order to secure their independence, while the conspirators in the late rebellion sought and pretended to find a shallow pretext whereby they might justify their treasonable action. The late rebels, in short, had determined to have a government of their own. They did not withdraw from the Union because they felt aggrieved toward the old Government; but having first resolved on rebellion, they set themselves to work to find excuses for their acts of treason.

By consulting that venerable document known as the Declaration of Independence, we find a clear statement of the sufficient reasons which induced the men of 1776 to abjure all allegiance to the British crown. Contrast these good and substantial reasons with the subtle pretenses which the rebels put forth in 1861. It is here that the difference between the two classes of rebels is observable. The Declaration of Independence asserts that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of the rights of men, it is the privilege of the people to alter or abolish it; and adds that governments should not be changed for light and transient causes. The Oregon Reporter tries to distort the first of these clauses so that it may mean that the Southern rebels had the unquestionable right to do what they undertook to accomplish. But the thing indispensably necessary to justify the late rebellion was entirely wanting. The Government was not destroying, or even threatening the rights of any portion of the people. Therefore the right of forcible revolution did not exist. Under such circumstances the only way in which the Government could have rightly been altered, was by the consent of the whole people. The right of revolution, as pointed out in the Declaration of Independence, cannot, as that instrument expressly says, be usurped or claimed except in cases where governments become destructive of popular rights. And since no pretence of the kind can be successfully urged in behalf of the late rebellion, it follows that as the conspiracy was entirely causeless, so it at once becomes a crime.

We repeat there is the greatest difference between an attempt to alter a mode of government that has become oppressive, and a conspiracy to destroy a government which had never in the least degree encroached upon the rights of the people. Further, there is an equal difference between an appeal to arms to obtain a redress of grievances which through long years had been growing intolerable, and a preconcerted plan to break up and destroy a government simply because it suited the daring ambition of wicked men to engage in the villainous attempt. Our fathers in 1776 had a sufficient reason for doing what they did; the late rebels had no cause whatever for their rebellion. We do not see how it is possible for any one not perceive this difference. There is no real parallel between the two cases. They are infinitely wide asunder. The problem ought to puzzle no one. Nor would it, were not some persons predetermined to find a complete excuse for the grossest treason. Men find themselves in sympathy with the lately foiled conspirators, and then set themselves at work to hunt artificial reasons for their disculpation. This is the class of persons who can see no difference between our revolution and the late rebellion. And if it sorted with their prejudices or predilections, no absurdity would be too great for them to receive as truth, or too palpable for them to essay to fortify with pretentious arguments.

If we put the American Revolution and the Southern Rebellion on the same ground, and falsely say that equal reasons existed why they should have been begun, then they are to be judged by the same rule and may be supported by the same arguments. But if we properly distinguish between them in the manner we have pointed out, it will conclusively appear why the one is entitled to all praise, while the other is a terrible crime. And further, it will then appear why we should revere the memory of the actors in the revolution while the names of those who were concerned in the late conspiracy should be forever accursed.

WHEAT TURNING TO "CHEAT."—A Marion county correspondent is satisfied he has proven that wheat will sometimes turn to "cheat." In his field he lately found a head of grain which is half pure white wheat and the other half as clean "cheat" as ever was seen. The lower half of the head is composed of wheat, while the remaining part went to "cheat!" Hence our correspondent is satisfied that "cheat" may grow from wheat. Accordingly, he claims the thousand dollars which a New York agricultural society offered for conclusive proof of this fact. Notwithstanding our correspondent seems so certain he has "found it," we think it likely that the scientific gentlemen of the New York Society would find a way of explaining the matter without granting that "cheat" does after all, come from wheat. As regards this matter, there seems to be a very considerable discrepancy between the declarations of science and the proofs which appear to come from actual experience.

NORTH CAROLINA.—From the last report of the rebel Adjutant General of North Carolina, it appears that that State furnished for the rebel cause 118,160 men. Of these, it is computed that above 81,000 are disabled or dead.

DATES TO SEPTEMBER 25.

Letter of President Lincoln to Gen. Wadsworth on the Suffrage Question.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The Southern Advocate of the 15th, says the following extract, which has just been published, is from the late President Lincoln's letter to Gen. Wadsworth, who fell in the battle of the Wilderness:

"You desire to know, in the event of our complete success in the field, the same being followed by a loyal and cheerful submission on the part of the South, if universal amnesty should not be accompanied with universal suffrage. Now, since you know my private views as to what terms should be granted to the South in the contingency mentioned, I will here add, that if our success should be realized, and followed by such desired results, I cannot see, if universal amnesty is granted, how, under the circumstances we can avoid exacting in return universal suffrage, or at least suffrage on the basis of intelligence and military service. How to better the condition of the colored race has long been a study which has attracted my serious and careful attention. I think I am clear and decided as to what course I shall pursue in the premises, regarding our own religious duty as the Nation's guardian of these people, who have so heroically vindicated their manhood on the battle field. Wherever, in assisting to save the Republic, the slaves have demonstrated in blood their right to the ballot, which is but the humane protection of the flag they have so fearlessly defended."

State Rights Men on the Rampage.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—At a meeting of State Rights men, held at Cooper Institute to-day, Thomas Lawrence presiding, resolutions were adopted denouncing the Democratic nomination and platform as absolving them from any obligation to support the party ticket, and proclaiming themselves for the Constitution as it is, and affirming that all executive proclamations and decrees in defiance of rights of States are unconstitutional and null and void. The nomination of the State ticket is left to the decision of the Committee of the 30th. Thirty Assembly districts are said to have been represented.

The Stolen Money of the St. Albans Banks.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The Herald's correspondent at St. Albans, Vermont, contradicts the report which has been generally circulated to the effect that the banks of that place had refunded to them by the Canadian authorities all the money stolen on the 19th of October by rebel raiders. He says the total amount stolen was over 210,000. Of this sum, only $20,000 was returned by the Canadians. It is said that Secretary Seward has made a demand on the British Government for restitution, on the ground that when the raid took place some of the Canadian officers were aware that it was contemplated and assisted the scoundrels in making their escape, and threw all possible obstacles in the way of their arrest and punishment.

Vessel Sunk on the Lakes.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The propeller Buckeye, which left here on Saturday for Toledo, struck a sunken rock near Cross of the River and sunk in seventy feet water. Three passengers are known to be lost. As the boat went down, three men were seen in the water under the stern, and were also lost.

Railroad Accident.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The Post's special says: The train which left Washington this morning for Richmond collided with another train near Alexandria and several persons were injured.

Pacific Railroad.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The Herald's Washington special says the President has approved the change of route for the Pacific Railroad, west of Omaha, the Company having acceded to the condition that the grade shall be reduced to thirty feet to the Missouri river and the Platte Valley.

North Carolina Election.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—A dispatch from Governor Holden, of North Carolina, dated Raleigh, Sept. 23d, says with reference to the election for Delegates to the State Convention which took place on Thursday, one half the State has been heard from. The result is very gratifying. Such men have been elected as Pearson, Reed, Moore, Warren, Donnell, Dick Brown, &c.

Treaty with the Indians Completed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The Commissioners appointed to treat with the South-western Indians at Fort Smith, have concluded their negotiations and have been uniformly successful.

"POOR MAN."—We insert the following extract from a letter received last night, written by a reliable person, now in Owyhee. He evidently has "sand on the brain":

"There has been another new discovery made that beats anything ever heard of before in the history of mining operations. I actually have some diffidence about describing its richness, knowing that not one man in a thousand will believe it. It is called the "Poor man," and was discovered the 14th of this month by W. P. Ray and C. H. O'Bryan, both well known in Portland. They have claimed 1,400 feet. The ledge is about three feet wide, and the largest portion of it assays from 50 to 90 per cent. It is a black, soft substance that can be shoveled up without the use of a pick, and is unlike anything ever found in this camp before. It is a "blind" lode and you bet there is some tall digging going on now to find the extensions. I have the first north and I commenced at the discovery shaft to dig, and have stripped the claim five hundred feet north towards my line, and have found the lode all the way, showing up enough mineral to pay off the National debt. I have 200 feet more to dig to reach my line, which I will do in another day, and will then know whether I have it or not.

"The discoverers, Track & Jennings, have also struck it better than ever. The Morning Star mill is running on Morning Star ore, that is yielding $700 per ton. All the mills are running night and day. The new mills are being constructed as rapidly as possible. there is not an idle man in camp."

A WONDERFUL REASON.—The Corvallis Democrat continues to assert gravely week after week, that the reason of the stoppage of the daily mail is found in the pretended fact that Oregon has returned to the "Democracy" again. We cannot conceive what men who claim to be sane, mean by such puerilities. When did the Democrat discover that the "Democracy" had resumed control of Oregon? We see no signs or proofs of it. And if they had, why should any one but a monomaniac partisan say that the mails were withheld on that account? Mails are sent to such "Democratic" States as South Carolina and Alabama, and it is not likely that Oregon could ever be deprived of them because it might be supposed she was too "Democratic" to deserve them.

CHANGED HANDS.—We learn that W. H. Newell has disposed of his interest in the Mountaineer newspaper at the Dalles to Messrs. Halloran and Cowne of that place. The publication of the paper will be continued by its present owners. There is a good field at the Dalles for a paper of a good solid character, such as we hope to see Messrs. Halloran and Cowne publish. We wish the new proprietors abundant success.

MONUMENT TO MCPHERSON.—A movement is on foot in Ohio to erect a handsome monument to the memory of the lamented General McPherson. A committee of his old officers has been appointed to take the matter in hand, secure subscriptions and superintend the erection of the work.

A census of Cleveland, just taken, makes the actual population 59,576. In 1860 it was 43,550, an increase in five years, of 16,026.

MEETING OF THE COMMON COUNCIL.—The regular weekly meeting of the Common Council was held at the council chamber last evening at 8 o'clock, Mayor Failing presiding.

The following members were present: Messrs. Clarke, Gilmore, Morgan, McCraken, Plummer, Starr and Schuyler.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

A petition from numerous citizens asking that the council restrain cattle from running at large was referred.

Messrs. Hacker Bros., C. M. Carter and others, petitioned for the McAdam pavement on First street, instead of plank as proposed, which petitions were referred.

R. W. Vaughn and others petitioned for a change of grade on Front street, asked that side walks be [illegible] to conform to their buildings, etc., which was granted.

John H. Perry & Co. were allowed further time to complete the McAdamizing of Front street.

Warrants were authorized on liquidation of claims against the city, as follows: H. J. Peters, advertising, $[illegible]; J. H. Perry & Co. on contract of street work, $[illegible]. The same company for grading of the intersection of Pine and Oak, and Front streets, $[illegible]; [illegible] Company, work on dredger, $[illegible]. Wm. Perry, same, $[illegible]. Bills of Marshal Hoyt, referred at last meeting, were allowed.

The following ordinances were read a first and second time:

Authorizing the Street Commissioner to put down the Salmon street sewer to the west line of Third street.

To provide for payment of fines and costs in gold and silver coin, when adjudged by the City Recorder.

To increase the compensation of the City Treasurer to $1,200 per annum.

The following ordinances were passed:

To provide for planking Washington street from the east line of Front street to the centre of Fifth street, to be completed by December 1st, 1865.

Declaring the surplus of assessment levied for the improvement of Front street between Jefferson and Hall streets, to be $1,357 00, and apportioning the same to the owners of the property so assessed.

Deducting the surplus of assessment levied similarly on property between Pine and Stark streets to be $1,[illegible] 5[illegible], and paying of it in like manner.

Declaring a deficiency of assessment for the improvement of lots five and six in block number 100, $7[illegible] 00.

Appropriating $5,000 for the building of sewers between [illegible] the Main streets.

[illegible] Sparing our Council.—People in this city of Portland are too much given to fault finding. In order to get along more harmoniously the views of our people should conform nearer to one another on important subjects of city government. We every day find persons who [illegible] about the Common Council. Say they are [illegible] enough, they do not proceed for the good of the people in the chosen line of their policy. We have been [illegible], heretofore, ourself, not to find fault with the acts of the Common Council, knowing full well the [illegible] under which they labor, and if any citizen needs further proof of the fallacy of such imputations than the proceedings of the Council this morning, from the bottom of our heart we sympathize with him. They have established a beautiful precedent of their [illegible] by allowing Messrs. Tom, Dick and others to grade their side-walks to suit themselves on the streets in conformity with buildings. In other words, people are [illegible] to conform to as they with their [illegible], and if you own a house that is six inches too low for the grade you can insert hydraulic jacks under that house and elevate it at your pleasure. Here it is only [illegible] to insert a piece of paper, in the form of a [illegible], and the jacks once not being hydraulic—will [illegible] the grade down to the desired notch. Isn't that so [illegible]? Now you, and you, and you, fault finders [illegible] with the streets and speedily evaporate, we're tired of such nonsense. Don't say it any more.

[illegible] Last Evening.—Was well attended, and may be [illegible] pronounced a decided success. At an early hour the people began to gather, and in a short time every [illegible] in the spacious M. E. Church was filled to [illegible]. The Good Templars met at their Hall and formed in procession two abreast, gentleman and lady, making quite an imposing procession, and marched to the church, where seats had already been secured. We were unable to attend the lecture, but are informed that it was [illegible], reflecting great credit upon Mr. [illegible], and was received with frequent rounds of [illegible]. After the lecture the procession reformed and marched back to their Hall. Judging from the display of youth and beauty in the procession last evening we should say that it is a good thing to be a Good [illegible], especially for young gentlemen.

[illegible] of the Supreme Court.—The following telegram was received in this city from Salem yesterday: "[illegible] hold good! Sunday law sustained. Gold [illegible]. J. H. Mitchell."

[illegible] saving clause reverses Judge Shattuck [illegible] the circuit court of this county. The [illegible] to the laws for the collection of taxes [illegible] patriotic citizens who wanted to pay their [illegible] after nine-tenths of their neighbors [illegible] in gold, will be disappointed, to which [illegible] had been.

[illegible]—In making our weekly review of the markets [illegible] we learned an important fact that should interest [illegible]. Messrs. Williams & Co. supply the trade [illegible] spices, coffee, etc., at San Francisco rates, [illegible] branches of their business, are enabled to do [illegible] the interior dealer than he could possibly do in [illegible].

[illegible]—The [illegible] on Front street, as [illegible] down to conform with the grade of the city, [illegible] to reach some of the wharves and warehouses [illegible] the levee above Washington street. In [illegible] of sand yesterday from Knott's wharf, the [illegible] to the wagon narrowly escaped having [illegible] by falling through an incline which the [illegible] making from the crossing to the road-way [illegible].

[illegible] Codfishery.—The schooner Caroline E. [illegible] lately at San Francisco with a valuable cargo [illegible] from the Ochotsk Sea, where a first-class codfishery has been found. These banks for years have been [illegible] who visited that region, and the [illegible] at last been practically put to the test with [illegible]. There is no doubt but that the codfish [illegible] will yield equally as well and employ [illegible] and as many men as do the Newfoundland [illegible] at the present time.

[illegible] cases of assaults have occurred [illegible] day [illegible] Hoffman was called on to [illegible] of $10 and costs each on Wm. R. Hill—alias [illegible]. Mrs. Sarah O'Brien for fighting—[illegible] Hill was then arrested on a charge of [illegible], and will be tried to-day. Leon [illegible] and costs for smashing windows at the [illegible]. Dr. Davidsohn was arrested for an [illegible] Dr. Elwert.

[illegible]—The steamship Oriflamme, Capt. Burns, [illegible] Cowlitz river at 8 o'clock p. m. yesterday, [illegible] this port. In consequence of her having troops [illegible] on board of the steamer Fannie Troup at [illegible] of the Willamette, for Fort Vancouver, she [illegible] up to the hour of our going to press.

[illegible]—In opening a package at the bag factory [illegible] in this city yesterday, a Weekly Oregonian [illegible] of the 29th of April, 1865, was found but little worse [illegible]. The curious part of the story is that the package [illegible] from New York, and the date shows [illegible] that Oregonian has made the round trip to New York and back inside of five months.

[illegible] for French Prairie.—Messrs. Gleason Brothers, of French Prairie, are about to receive a steam [illegible] mill, with everything requisite to put it in excellent [illegible] order. The machinery is making at the Portland [illegible] D. Venable.

[illegible]—This being a Jewish holiday our Hebrew citizens will [illegible] during business hours. The day is [illegible] the [illegible] day of the year 5626 as Kippur, or the [illegible] the thirtieth day of the first month [illegible].

[illegible] Hunters inform us that fine spring and [illegible] may be obtained in great abundance on the [illegible].

The Father of Payne.—The Florida Union [illegible] that the afflicted father of Payne, the would-be murderer of Secretary Seward, has been making a visit to Jacksonville, in that State. The Union says:

The father of Payne called on us recently. He [illegible] on a plantation three miles from Live Oak [illegible] on the Pensacola and Georgia railroad. [illegible] lost one son at the battle of Murfreesboro, [illegible] returned home crippled for life. Lewis was his only hope in his old age. The afflicted [illegible] was a Baptist minister, as has been stated [illegible] necessarily pronounce just the terrible [illegible] to the son, but we can not withhold [illegible] sympathy for the heart stricken parent [illegible] or esteem him less as a worthy man and [illegible].

[illegible] infallible cure for rheumatism has just been promulgated. It is simply a teaspoonful, night and morning, of extract [illegible] to a pleasant [illegible]. The one who publishes it paid two dollars for a small portion of the remedy in 1856, and has had no recurrence of the disease since. Those who doubt horse chestnuts had better try it.

A Query Answered.—The London Spectator asks, "Why do Americans seem to persist in preferring Mr. Seward's flux of language to the [illegible] and pithy wisdom of such a man as Lincoln?" They don't "seem to" do anything of the kind to any one who understands them. Why will the Spectator, with all its good sense, persist in asking such silly questions?"—N. Y. Post.

American Belles.—America is justly proud of her beautiful ladies, but how many mar their [illegible], and lose their health and youth, become prematurely old in appearance, by neglecting to take proper care of their teeth. There can be no [illegible] for this, as Sozodont, pronounced by all [illegible] a place between the sweetest lips, can now be had in all civilized countries.

Sold by Druggists and Perfumers.

Removed.—Messrs. Emil, Lowenstein & Co. have temporarily removed their Furniture and Upholstery establishment to the north-east corner of Front and Taylor [illegible] until their new Brick on First Street is completed. [illegible] to see all their former patrons, and as many [illegible] to give them a call. sep20tf

The necessity for establishing some character of market place, by the city authorities, is becoming every day more apparent. That farmers should have privileges accorded to them to dispose of their produce at a wagon load of produce none will deny—but we find there is a class of farmers who practice impositions not alone upon the retail dealer, but upon the community at large, by peddling vegetables and receiving for them prices larger than the retail dealer presumes to ask at his stores. Persons not thoroughly posted in the market are apt to—and often do—pay fully 50 per cent. more to a farmer for vegetables than the dealer asks for the same article. We have no objection to the farmer getting one dollar a bushel for his potatoes and other produce in proportion but after he has learned that there is a supply in excess of the demand, that will not enable him to get these prices of a regularly constituted and licensed dealer, it is an imposition on the dealer and an imposition on the public, for him to force it on the eye, and peddle it at the [illegible]. It [illegible] the necessity exists for the establishment of a market place where the farmer may have a stand, or [illegible] charge [illegible] days, to dispose of his produce. We have no more than sufficient time and space left to [illegible] the [illegible], but it is a matter that we trust [illegible] brought up [illegible] to our notice, and [illegible] be brought up for action to the City Council at no distant day.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

—OF—

HAS BEEN USED FOR NEARLY

HALF A CENTURY,

WITH THE MOST ASTONISHING SUCCESS IN CURING

Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Croup, Liver Complaint, Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, Asthma, and every affection of the

THROAT, LUNGS, AND CHEST

INCLUDING EVEN

CONSUMPTION.

There is scarcely one individual in the community who wholly escapes, during a season, from some one, however slightly developed, of the above symptoms—a neglect of which might lead to the last named, and most to be dreaded disease in the whole catalogue. The power of "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree over this class of complaints is well known; so great is the good it has performed, and so great the popularity it has acquired.

In this preparation, besides the virtues of the Cherry, there are commingled with it other ingredients of like value, thus increasing its value ten fold, and forming a Remedy whose power to soothe, to heal, to relieve, and to cure disease, exists in no other medicine yet discovered.

The unequalled success that has attended the application of this medicine in all cases of

has induced many physicians of high standing to employ it in their practice, some of whom advise us of the fact under their own signatures. We have space only for the names of a few of these:—

S. H. Finley, M. D., San Francisco, Cal.
R. Bowden, M. D., Exeter, Me.
Alexander Hatch, M. D., China, Me.
R. Fellows, M. D., Hill, N. H.
W. H. Webb, M. D., Cape Vincent, N. Y.
W. H. Lynch, M. D., Auburn, N. Y.
Abraham Skillman, M. D., Boundbrook, N. J.
H. D. Martin, M. D., Mansfield, Pa.

The proprietors have letters from all classes of our fellow citizens, from the halls of Congress to the humblest cottage, and even from beyond the seas; for the fame and virtue of Wistar's Balsam have extended to the uttermost bounds of the earth, without any attempt on our part to introduce it beyond the limits of our own country.

TO CALIFORNIANS AND OREGONIANS.

After October 1, 1863, all genuine WISTAR'S BALSAM of WILD CHERRY for the Pacific Coast will be enclosed in a new wrapper which will bear the printed names of both Seth W. Fowle & Co., Boston, Mass., and John D. Park, Cincinnati, Ohio, as well as fac-simile of the signatures of "I. Butts," "Sanford & Park," and "H. Wistar, M. D."

Mr Ashley's San Francisco Speech

We copy from the Bulletin the following report of Mr Ashley's late speech in San Francisco:

I thank my friend for his very flattering introduction. [illegible] I shall not long detain you. It has been pleased [illegible] far more complimentary terms to my political [illegible] than I can only say that when the smoke of battle has cleared off, and the [illegible] and [illegible] of the hour shall have passed, [illegible] the motives [illegible] can be read in the [illegible] Earth, [illegible] I hope my record will be [illegible] which neither my friends nor my children will have any cause to feel ashamed.

If in our great anti-slavery struggle or during the war for the preservation of the Nation it shall be found that I have contributed to the triumph of truth, whether by clearing away the underbrush or by occasionally felling some of the larger timber, I shall be amply compensated for all such labor and for the unmeasured abuse of which I have been the recipient. But in this practical age it is not so much what a man has done, as what he can do which interests the public in him. On this point I think I may say with safety, that I am sure the States and Territories west of the Missouri, will receive no detriment because of my visit.

Mr President one week ago yesterday afternoon as I passed from the Pacific through the Golden Gate into your magnificent harbor and beheld for the first time your beautiful city, I felt as if one of the earliest dreams of my boyhood had been realized, and that I had been in part compensated for the toil, hazard and anxiety of an overland trip from the Missouri river to Denver, Salt Lake and Montana, thence down the Snake through Idaho to the Columbia, down the Columbia to Portland and across to Olympia and Puget Sound and thence to Victoria by steamer, here.

When a boy I read the account given by Lewis and Clark of their explorations and I longed to see the great plains, the wonderful rivers and still more wonderful mountains, which I find they have so faithfully described. In my journey I passed over many points of interest made historic by them and by Fremont, Stevens, Mulan, Lander and others, but interesting and wonderful as many of these localities were to me, none have impressed me more favorably than your beautiful seven hilled city of less than twenty years' growth.

If a man who had never heard of San Francisco should enter your harbor as I did, and see shipping from all parts of the world so numerous as to make a perfect forest of masts, and witness the bustle and activity of business and be told that your population exceeded 125,000, he would naturally conclude that he was entering one of the oldest and most wealthy cities on the continent. I cannot tell you how all this stirred my heart with national pride as I beheld in all that I saw the results of American genius and American enterprise.

When the great railroad of the continent, which with such commendable zeal you are pushing forward so rapidly, shall have been completed and the great cities of the Atlantic are united with your metropolis by iron bands, one of the dreams of my early manhood will be realized. Thanks to the energy with which you are pushing forward the Pacific division soon the shrill whistle of the iron horse will awaken echoes through the canyons and gorges of the mountains, as it passes over and descends to the plains on the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevadas. When this is accomplished it will be a proud day for you, because to you will be due the credit of having demonstrated to the world the practicability of this great enterprise, around which so many hopes, present and prospective, cling.

Next in importance to this coast is the mining interest of California and of the coast, for a distance of 1000 miles. I have visited the most of the mining districts, and my observations have confirmed my judgment that no policy could be more suicidal than to sell the mines.

The speaker dwelt at some length upon the subject, and repeated his conviction after a thorough examination of the mining districts and frequent conversations with the miners—many of whom had spent sixteen years in developing this coast—that no greater blunder and no greater wrong could be committed by the Government than to deprive them of the mines by general sale. It would put a stop to prospecting, retard the development of the mines, and he was satisfied would not add $10,000,000 to the coffers of the Government. The income tax accruing from the present system of mining would bring a larger amount to the treasury in ten years than the entire proceeds of the sale of the mines. Capitalists would combine, and both the miner and the Government would be defrauded. The result of the sale of our mines would be to reduce them to the condition of the Mexican mines, which certainly no one desired to see.

Taking leave of this subject the speaker proceeded as follows:

And now, fellow citizens, permit me to pass to the consideration of a subject which ought to interest every loyal man in the nation.

The last rebel army has been defeated and disbanded. The Union army is marching home in triumph beneath its torn and blood stained banners, its scarred and weather beaten veterans shaking the very earth beneath their tread. As they pass in review before the National Capital, and in every city, they are greeted with shouts and tears and everywhere receive the homage and benedictions of the nation.

At their country's call, more than a million men voluntarily left their quiet and peaceful homes to peril, and, if need be to yield up their lives to save the nation's life. To-day the remnant of this patriotic and heroic army are returning to their homes to assume again the peaceful and responsible duties of American citizens. This is a spectacle the glory and grandeur of which dazzles the world with its splendor, and is worthy to be written in the Book of Life by the recording angel.

With the return of this army ends the struggle to maintain our National existence by force of arms, and a struggle unlike any in our history is to take its place. Who shall be authorized to reorganize State Governments in the late rebel States? Shall it be loyal men or disloyal men? Shall educated treason be clothed with the power or educated loyalty? Shall the men who, for the past four years, have labored with might and main to destroy the Government, and whose hands are red with the blood of my loyal countrymen, be entrusted with the full power to govern not only themselves and loyal men of the South, but, by uniting with their late Northern allies, govern us also?

These are practical questions, it seems to me and questions of transcendent importance to us as a free people. If the loyal men of the nation would answer them as the returned Union soldiers would answer them, I would have no anxiety for the future. If one question could be satisfactorily answered, there would be no serious disagreement among loyal men. That question is this—What, during the war, has been, and what is now the legal status of the rebel States?

I hold that when the people of the States recently in rebellion confederated together in violation of the National Constitution, and organized and maintained by force of arms a de facto hostile government, and the rebellion assumed proportions formidable enough to claim and to have conceded to it by the United States and by the great powers of Europe, belligerent rights, from that hour constitutional State Governments in each of the States so confederated together ceased to exist, and until State Governments are reorganized in each of said States in subordination to the National Constitution, and are recognized by Congress, there can be no constitutional State Governments in such States.

I hold that, when the people of the thirteen Colonies adopted our present National Constitution the old Confederation was abolished, and the United States became a nation; that the National Constitution is the supreme law of the land, anything in the Constitution, laws or judicial decisions of the States to the contrary notwithstanding; that the National Government thus created is clothed with full powers for its self preservation; that the Government of the United States is a Government of the people and not a Government of the thirty-six sovereign States, but a Government of the people residing in the several States who have State Governments, organized in subordination to and in conformity with the National Constitution; that the people who maintain such State Governments and they alone are constitutionally clothed with the power of governing the nation.

I hold that whenever the people residing in any one or more States neglect or refuse to maintain constitutional State Governments, whether it be by abolishing their State Constitutions and refusing to elect new ones, or by confederating together with other States or with foreign powers to make war upon the nation, from that moment the governing power, whether for National or State purposes, which was lodged by the National Constitution and laws of the United States in the people of such State or States terminates and remains in the people residing in the States which maintain constitutional Governments. In other words, that the sovereignty of the nation cannot be destroyed by any act within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States by the action or refusal to act of any one or more States.

I hold that the people of any State may alter or abolish their State Constitutions and Governments whenever they see fit to do so, and [illegible] [illegible] power in the National Government [illegible] the people of every State to maintain a State government [illegible] Senators and Representatives to Congress, [illegible] to vote for Presidential Electors. Nevertheless, the sovereignty of the United States over the territory and people within [illegible] State or States remains unimpaired [illegible] the United States [illegible] in full force and [illegible] whether in States or Territories [illegible] whatever may be the action [illegible] of the people in any State. Those who consider these propositions a recognition of the right of secession are remarkable logicians.

The speaker here gave several illustrations [illegible] then continued as follows:

If, in our effort to reorganize loyal State Governments in the late rebel States, we permit the question of loyal suffrage to [illegible] I fear treason and defeat not only to the Union [illegible] in most of the rebel States but in some of the loyal States [illegible]. If, however, all loyal men without distinction of race or color, are invited and permitted to vote for delegates to the proposed Constitutional Conventions which [illegible] ought to be held in each of the late rebel States and for the adoption or rejection of any Constitution which may be framed by such Conventions whatever the result, there can be no violent agitation or formidable division of the Union party.

If the loyal white and loyal blacks of the South in reorganizing loyal State Governments, see fit to limit the right of the elective franchise to the blacks who can read and write the English language, and all who have been in the military or naval service of the United States, whether they can read and write [illegible] I think a majority of the Union party will acquiesce [illegible] which will follow if the colored soldiers are excluded would be avoided. But if the loyal blacks, including all the black soldiers, are to be excluded, and none but the loyal whites and those professedly loyal, together with all the pardoned and impenitent rebels in these States are to elect delegates to Conventions to reorganize loyal State Governments, there will be dissatisfaction among the loyal men of the nation and justly and for one I fear the consequences. If President Johnson should to-morrow issue instructions to his recently appointed Provisional Governors in the rebel States requiring them to invite and see that all loyal black men were not only permitted, but protected in voting for delegates, and for or against accepting any State Constitution which might be framed by such Conventions, nineteen twentieths of all the professed Union men in the North now opposing negro suffrage would give in their adhesion to the plan, while all the Congressmen of the party would at once become vociferous in its favor.

Every party, as every army, has its camp followers. The Republican and Union party since it came into power has had its full share of them. We have thousands of men in the Union party, who on this negro suffrage question, are skirmishing along, near enough to the main column of our advancing army to rush in and claim the benefit of a victory if we obtain one, and yet close enough to the rear to beat a hasty retreat if we should be defeated, to enable them to join the enemy without any perceptible change of base. This is political strategy.

I once asked a man in Washington how it came that he was retained in office for so many years under so many different Administrations. "My Heavens!" he exclaimed with an air of triumph and much apparent satisfaction. "I would like to see the people elect a President oftener than I can change. Do you suppose any man ever will be elected President who can issue proclamations faster than the flunkies and camp followers of his party will approve them? If you do, I do not."

You all remember how many editors and politicians were indifferent to, or opposed the demand of the anti-slavery men for the emancipation policy, before it was adopted by Mr. Lincoln. As soon, however as the Proclamation was issued, there was a sudden and general conversion, and these very men were the first to appear at every public meeting to give their adhesion, and rush into every nominating convention and take the front seats, without a scruple, and demand the best offices without a blush.

If Mr. Johnson should to-day, issue such a proclamation as the loyal suffrage men of the nation have asked him to issue, and such a proclamation as I hope he will issue—for I hold he is not committed against it—I do not believe that ten men occupying respectable positions in the Union party, either as editors, or Senators and Representatives in Congress, could be found to oppose him in such a movement.

Mr. Lincoln once said to me, that he had more to fear from that class of men who crawled in at the back door, approved whatever they supposed to be his policy, while denouncing and slandering the anti-slavery men, whom he knew and admitted to be the most steadfast Union men, as well as his most reliable friends. This same class of camp followers were the first to rush in post haste to the Presidential mansion, and favoringly approve the new policy, the moment the Emancipation Proclamation was issued. They flooded the mails with their letters and congratulations, and filled five columns of their papers in laudation of the new policy, for every one used by anti-slavery. So it would be, now, if the President would issue a proclamation to-morrow in favor of loyal suffrage without regard to the race or color of the voter. The opposition in the Union party would not have force or contrary to make a ripple on the face of the smoothest water.

All I demand in the reorganization of State Governments in the late rebel States is justice; justice akin to loyal white and loyal black; justice to the late rebels, also, justice tempered with mercy if you will but nevertheless justice; that justice which secures the persons and rights of all by placing in their hands the ballot, the only sure weapon in a Republic, of protection and defense to the poor man whether white or black. To me the ballot is the political stone "cut out of the mountain without hands, which shall fill the whole earth, and break every yoke and let the oppressed go free." Whoever shall fall on this stone shall be broken, but on whomsoever it shall fall it will grind him to powder.

And here I must [illegible] of a digression [illegible] moment and refer to some unfriendly criticisms which have been made by Eastern papers upon extracts which purport to have been copied from a speech made by me on the evening before I left Ohio.

I have never seen the paper from which it was taken, nor [illegible] the speech referred to, and only since I reached your city have I read what purported to be extracts from it, and the criticisms made upon them. Perhaps I ought also to say that I did not expect the few remarks I made on that night at a private business meeting, to appear in any publication as a speech. I supposed a notice of the meeting would probably appear and that some reference [illegible]

In domestic produce the receipts are very light, and the market inactive, in consequence of the bad state of the roads which have not as yet greatly improved.

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Raising and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD, heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction, even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED not to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.
